HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN'S THE SHADOW

Hans Christian Andersen's *The Shadow uses music, vocals, dance, projections, puppetry and shadow play to tell Andersen's story and then sets it on its head to present a new uplifting fairy tale of discovery, adventure and the positive nature of man.

Act 1 is the original HCA fairy tale, dark and mysterious, telling the tale of a Shadow that takes over a Man's life. Act 2, our original addition, continues where the HCA story left off, sending The Shadow on an epic journey to discover his new shadow, man's inherent goodness and, ultimately, redemption.

The production's use of multiple theatrical elements is a reflection of Mixed eMotion Theatrix's dedication to telling stories through hybrid theater work, imaginatively integrating movement, music, media and old school theatricality, such as puppetry, to create gorgeous, fun and enlightening live theater experiences. The award-winning members of Mixed eMotion Theatrix represent an international, highly creative, diverse and multi-disciplinary melange.

WHY THE SHADOW?

The stories of Hans Christian Andersen are beloved by children and adults. Many of his works have inspired timeless adaptations from Disney's The Little Mermaid to Frozen (inspired by Andersen's The Snow Queen). Andersen's original version ends with the author despairing for humanity. In our expanded version of his story we explore the idea of personal development and transformation, ultimately resulting in The Shadow finding goodness and generosity in humankind and all of the characters discovering strength in personal acceptance. With this move beyond darkness to empathy we strive to create a new fairytale of hope and compassion for our times. Now more than ever, we need to understand that choices we make and the actions we take dictate who we become and directly affect those around us. But, equally as important is understanding that making poor choices does not mean we can not change or better ourselves.

THE ORIGINAL STORY

Act 1: “The Shadow” by Hans Christian Andersen

The Path of Darkness

Our Story begins with a young man, a writer, who, in hopes of finding inspiration travels from the cold north to a land where the sun has great power. Instead of looking at the fascinating people, beautiful buildings, and amazing sites and smells, he perpetually buries his head in books, participating in none of it and missing the wonder all around him. Returning to his modest apartment, still unable to write he hears mysterious music from across the way and glimpses a beautiful, luminous creature seeming to commune with the moon, who just as quickly disappears. He wistfully yearns of sending his shadow inside to learn more about the being on the balcony, but disheartened, retires.

Unbeknownst to him, however, his wish and the enchanted moonlight separates his shadow from himself. As the Man prepares to go to sleep his Shadow stays behind and indeed slips into the apartment to learn more about being. The creature is the omniscient Queen of Light, communing with their retinue. The Shadow attempts to hide but is quickly revealed to the Queen of Light. They are delighted by the Shadow who asks to be made human, something the Queen cannot grant. And so the Shadow, slowly transforming, sets off to learn to be a man. He enters the town, peering into windows to discover the secrets of humanity. He sees corrupt power, jealousy, unfaithfulness and encounters abuse and cruelty at the hands of people who all fear him. He returns home in time to see the young man turned out of doors for failure to pay rent and determines that to become a man he must become powerful by any means.

Many years pass. Back in his homeland, the Man becomes destitute as he writes of human kindness and the joys of life with little to no acclaim. One evening there is a knock at his door. He answers to find a very gaunt slip of a “man” who reveals himself to be his long-lost Shadow returned at last. The Shadow apologizes for abandoning the Man who assures him that apologies are unnecessary. He is simply happy to see him again after all this time and longs to hear of his adventures.

Wealthy, but still without a shadow of his own, the Shadow convinces his former master to accompany him to the very exclusive Spa Town where the healing waters work wonders. The Shadow suggests to him that the Man might find a cure for his writer’s block there. The Shadow’s only request: that the Man act as his shadow. With the Man by his side the Shadow will have the one piece of humanity he feels he lacks, his own shadow. The Man agrees and they set off. The Man has become the shadow and the Shadow, the man.

They arrive in Spa Town and meet a beautiful but unconventional Princess. She is there at her father’s behest in order to cure her unfortunate clarity, independence, and forthrightness (as evidenced by entrance in the midst of a raucous fencing match). Unable to stomach others’ insistence that she be like them, the Princess falls in love with the mysterious Shadow, intrigued by his own uniqueness and his unusual shadow (the Man). The Shadow and the Princess agree to marry upon their return to her homeland, keeping it a secret from everyone, including the Man.

When they arrive, the Shadow offers the Man a golden opportunity: he can experience all the joys of this new royal life but every morning he must lie at Shadow’s feet so that all may see that he has his own shadow. The Man refuses and threatens to reveal the truth to the Princess. The Shadow retorts that no one will believe his story and has the Man taken away by the Princess’s guards explaining that his shadow has gone mad. On the day of the wedding, the Man is put to death. Here Andersen’s story ends. In our tale, however, it is just the beginning of the Shadow’s transformation, for as the viewer watches the supposed death of the Man a bird flies away.

Act 2: “The Shadow” A New Fairytale

The Path Towards Light

His terrible deed, discovered by the Princess, the Shadow runs away, pursued for weeks by a Strange Bird, who is actually the Man, magically transformed by the Queen of Light. At last the Shadow finds himself at the docks and tries to gain passage but is refused by all until the Captain of the last ship agrees to take him on as a shipmate. The Captain is the Princess in disguise, having abandoned her position and taking to the high seas to learn more about life, free of the confines of royalty.

And so begins the Shadow’s life aboard a ship. With the Strange Bird ever nipping at his heels, the Shadow learns to mend sails, swab the deck, cook, and, despite his best efforts, to appreciate the camaraderie of others.

When the ship is attacked by pirates, The Shadow is saved first by the Captain/Princess, then by the Strange Bird. During the battle the Shadow does them each the same favor in turn.

One night, the ship is engulfed by a storm and destroyed. The Strange Bird saves the Shadow and the Captain and drags them to shore. The Shadow wakes to find none other than the Princess, her disguise in ruins, tending desperately to the exhausted bird. Although incensed at being deceived, the Shadow is also surprised by a deep sense of loss upon learning that the rest of the crew has been lost. Any argument between the Princess and the Shadow is quickly allayed, however, when they are attacked by a three-headed dragon.

Using his shape-shifting abilities, the Shadow transforms himself from the form of a man into a huge, thin shadow, strangling the dragon and saving the Princess and the Strange Bird. The act of transforming back to his shadow shape reveals his true form, but rather than shunning him in fear, the Princess accepts him as he is.

With this, the Queen of Light reveals herself as the three-headed dragon. They then transform the Strange Bird back into the Man, whom they had saved from destruction. The group hears a noise in the distance and the crew arrives, disheveled but alive. After embracing them all, The Shadow looks around at the scene and realizes that existence is not so much about what one has, but what one does. That compassion and generosity for other people enhances one’s own life.

The Shadow, The Princess and The Man return to a life at sea, each character with new sense of self acceptance and appreciation of their own strengths. The Queen of Light looks on with a knowing smile as the three sail away, The Shadow and The Princess, for more adventures to experience, and for the Man, new stories to write and tell.

In bringing The Shadow to life, we aim to incorporate as much stage magic as possible including:

DANCE

The Shadow will utilize movement and dance to narrate, enhance, excite and transport the audience to the vast locales of the tale. Most of the action will be created with a cast of mover/dancers. The Shadow is our main storyteller, a performer who is a dancer, gymnast, and movement communicator. The ensemble will be constantly transforming, from the Queen of Light's retinue, to the city folk, to the King's courtiers. The movement will cascade from swirling patterns of ancient worship to aggressive street dance inspired choreography.

PROJECTION DESIGN

Projections will be used throughout, on both stationary and lightweight moving screens to provide bold visual settings for each scene. Projections will also enhance the live shadow effects, allowing a digital shadow to “detach” from a performer and move independently.

LIVE SHADOW WORK

Using both rear and front projection onto a mobile and transformable light screen, the character of The Shadow will begin as a shadow theatre performance by the actor playing The Man. Lights placed downstage will cast a shadow of the Man (Lead Character) on the screen. This type of shadow play will initially start the production. The introduction of an independent screen will be revealed later that will allow The Shadow to move on its own. Both as a mimic of the Man and later as its own character.

PUPPETRY & SHADOW PUPPETRY

The oldest forms of theatre used intricate shadow puppets to tell their stories. The Shadow will incorporate this classic art form as a way to explore the supernatural aspects of the story. Some characters will exist only in puppet form, while others will be both actors and puppets, allowing them to jump on and off the screen.

MUSIC

The music for Hans Christian Andersen's The Shadow is entirely original and has been created specifically for the production by the extremely talented Composer/Lyricist Divya Maus with additional dance music provided by Composer/Orchestrator Anthony Luca. Music propels the characters and story, motivates dance and engulfs the atmosphere with powerful aural sensations helping to create a magical world full of wonder and potential. As dance and movement are a vital element in the storytelling there are significant instrumental sequences created to assist in the storytelling and to bolster the action on stage. Original songs, sung by The Shadow, The Man, The Princess and The Queen of Light, allow for character development and provide an opportunity to facilitate an ease of understanding with the audience. Songs have a vintage rock feel with varied musical qualities speaking to various exotic locations and reflecting the emotional motivations of the characters; welcoming, dominating, mournful, romantic and so much more. Currently the vocalists perform live to beautifully produced music on track with the potential for a live band in the future.

THE CHARACTERS

THE MAN

A young, learned and kind-hearted writer who sends his shadow on an errand which will change the course of his life. Is he the Enslaver or the Enslaved? Is he a callous despot or the target of a devious plot to destroy him?

THE SHADOW

He seems at first to be a cunning villain, but is the truth so simple? Is he an Enslaved Destroyer or the Deliverer of Justice?

THE QUEEN OF LIGHT

The man sees a vision of a beautiful woman “streaming with light” from across their balconies. In Hans Christian Andersen’s story, almost nothing is revealed about her, but her story will provide the driving actions for the show’s second act.

THE PRINCESS

Is she just another fairy tale Royal who falls in love at the drop of a hat? Or is she part of a larger plan to bring proper justice to a devious and malicious entity?

DESIGN INFLUENCES

Gerhardt Menthe

For Act 1, which tells the original story of Hans Christian Andersen “The Shadow,” we are interested in creating a world with visuals inspired by Gerhardt Munthe, a Norwegian artist working at the end of the 19th Century.

Inspired by antiquity, Norwegian folk art and Japonisme, Norwegian Gerhard Munthe was one of the most groundbreaking and innovative artists in the late 1800s, active as a designer in the fields of tapestries, carpets, furniture, stained glass, silver, porcelain, wallpaper, wrought iron, book bindings, fonts and interior decoration.

We are particularly interested in his illustrations and tapestry inspired by Nordic folk tales. He shares a Scandinavian heritage with Hans Christian Andersen and is drawing on a similar folkloric tradition. In Act 1 of “The Shadow” the original story will be inspired by his art with costumes and projections reflecting Munthe’s folkloric vision. We love the interplay of medieval and Japanese art, the design work and the coloring.

CONCEPT DEVELOPMENT

THE COMPANY

Mixed eMotion Theatrix

OUR MISSION

Mixed eMotion Theatrix (MeMT), formed in 2016, combines music, contemporary dance, ethnic movement, opera, theater, film and multi-media to create hybrid performance experiences in live theater. The company is dedicated to telling stories of the human condition through the use of folk tales, myths, classic literature, new histories and biographies. It is the goal of MeMT to create productions that are filled with wonderment, insight and the rush of human motion and emotion.

PRODUCTION HISTORY

Anaïs A DANCE OPERA

Anaïs, A Dance Opera blends dance, music, theater, and text to explore and illuminate the riveting life of famed diarist and literary figure Anaïs Nin. With one female vocalist, six dancers and stunning projections the show tells the absorbing story of Nin, revealing her world of words, sex, passion and creativity: her scorching affair with novelist Henry Miller; her immersion into the decadent café culture of 30's Paris; and her daring sexual adventures in 40's NYC. The production had development presentations at the Miles Playhouse, and Pasadena Dance Festival. The show premiered in Los Angeles in '16 to rave reviews, sold out houses and an extended run. It performed the month of July '17 in France at the Festival OFF d'Avignon, Paris at the vintage cabaret, La Nouvelle Eve. and opened the International Theatre Festival in Casablanca, Morocco.

SO NOW YOU KNOW

So Now You Know combines storytelling and dance to tell personal stories of individual discovery in words and movement. These true tales of love, childhood, family, birth and death are poignant, uplifting and often hilarious. This show has been performed both with it's pro dancer/actor cast but also as a outreach project incorporating teens, seniors and disabled from a community. We all have stories to tell, So Now You Know, combines spoken and movement language to actively engage and unite the audience.

Gatsby Redux was originally created for the Los Angeles Music Center event, Moves After Dark. This site specific project utilized Frank Gehry's gorgeous Walt Disney Hall. Using The Great Gatsby as a theatrical departure point, Roston created choreography filled with love triangles, intimate dance among the trees and waves of movement from a large ensemble. In addition to dancers in white linen and flowing dresses the choreography incorporated 1920's cartoons projected on the curved metal walls of Disney Hall. MeMT now offers Gatsby Redux as a full-length site specific performance that is a vintage yet contemporary dance experience.
