

We brought Mixed eMotion Theatrix to our town for a two day residency where they performed So Now You Know at three different schools and had one show for the public. We had local teens audition, rehearse and perform with the professional MEMT dancers. The school shows were for children in late elementary through high school, and each age group was absolutely transfixed by the performance. We have heard nothing but amazing praise from the school administration and the students' parents. Janet and Ryan flawlessly incorporated our three teen students stories with the professional dancers and the resulting performances were nothing short of magical.
